Marketing Mix
4 P's

Product	Price	Place	Promotion
Variety	List price	Channels	Advertising
Quality	Discounts	Coverage	Personal selling
Design	Allowances	Locations	Sales promotion
Features	Payment period	Inventory	Public relations
Brand name	Credit terms	Transportation	Direct marketing
Packaging		Logistics
Services		Assortments

PRODUCT
What does the customer want from the product?
What features does it have to meet these needs?
How and where will the customer use it?
What does it look like?
What size(s), color(s), should it be?
What is it to be called?
How is it branded?
How is it differentiated versus your competitors?
PRICE
What is the value of the product or service to the buyer?
Are there established price points for products or services in this area?
Is the customer price sensitive?
What discounts should be offered to trade customers?
How will your price compare with your competitors?
TARGET MARKET
PLACE
Where do buyers look for your product or service?
If they look in a store, what kind?
How can you access the right distribution channels?
Do you need to use a sales force?
What do you competitors do, and how can you learn from that and/or differentiate?
PROMOTION
Where and when can you get across your marketing messages to your target market?
Will you reach your audience by advertising in the press, or on TV, or radio, or on billboards?
When is the best time to promote?
How do your competitors do their promotions? And how does that influence your choice of promotional activity?

MARKETING MIX

- 7Ps – Price, Product, Promotion, Place, People, Process, Physical Environment
- Traditional 4Ps extended to encompass growth of service industry

INTEGRATING MARKETING

Integrated Marketing is an approach to creating a unified and seamless experience for consumers to interact with the brand/enterprise; it attempts to meld all aspects of marketing communication such as advertising, sales promotion, public relations, direct marketing, and social media, through their respective mix of tactics, methods, channels, media, and activities, so that all work together as a unified force. It is a process designed to ensure that all messaging and communications strategies are consistent across all channels and are centered on the customer.

MARKET SEGMENTATION AND TARGETING

Segmentation:
The process of dividing a market into distinct groups of buyers with different needs, characteristics, or behavior who might require separate products of marketing programs based on demography, geography, social-cultural factors, psychological factors. Allow firms to adjust marketing mix to meet the needs of separate market segments

Targeting:
Involves evaluating each market segment' s attractiveness and selecting one or more segments to enter.

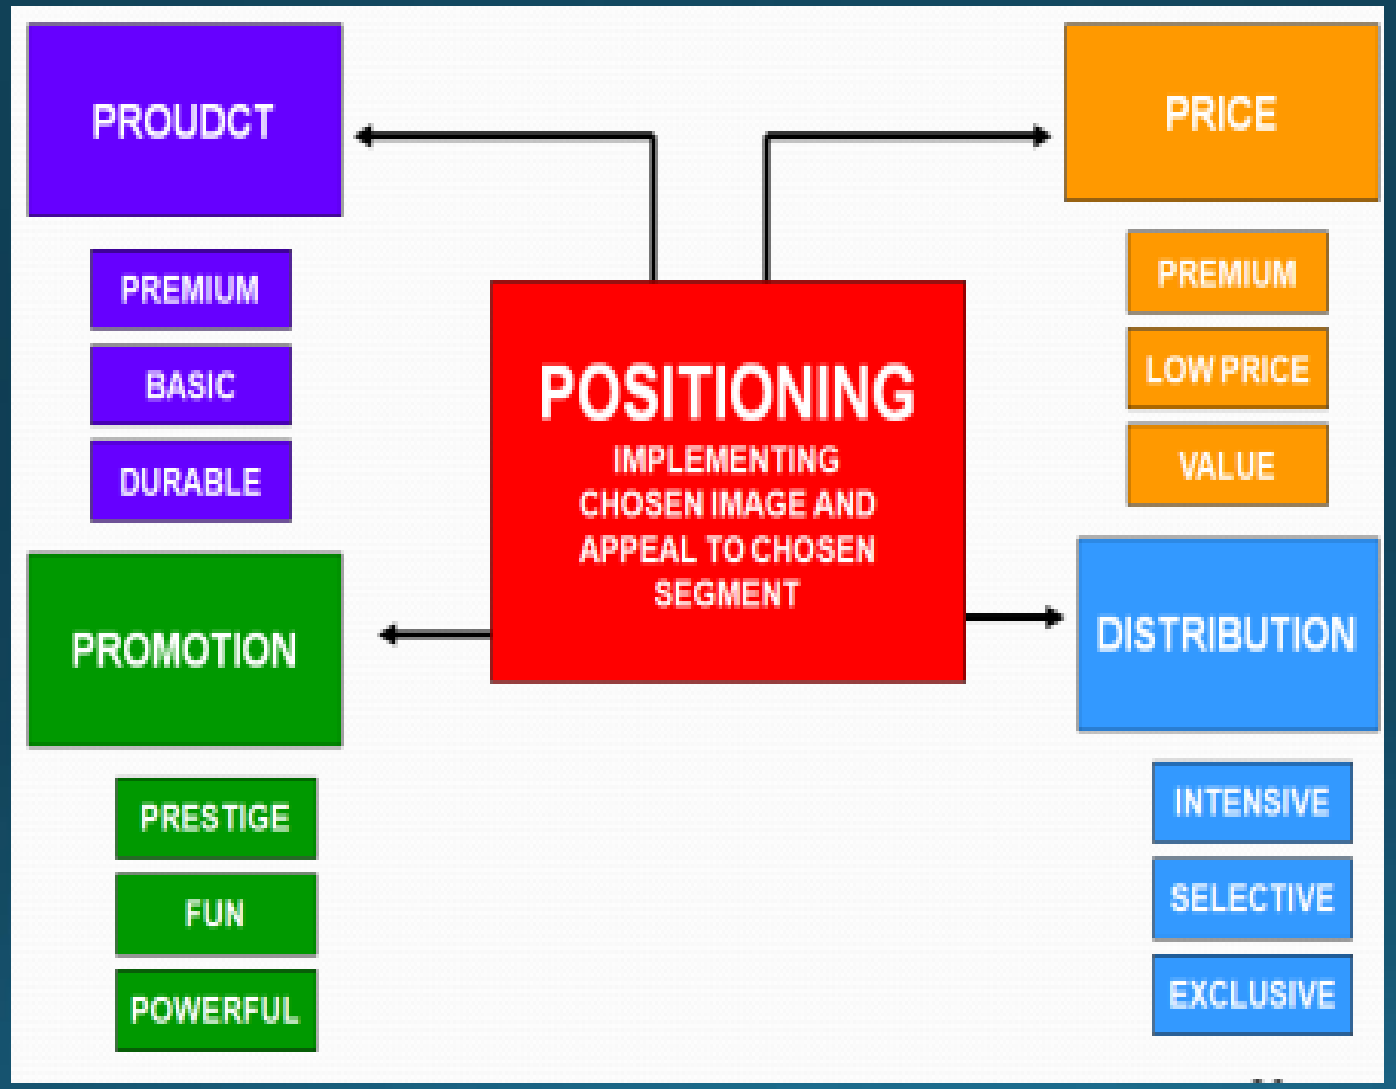
PRODUCT DIFFERENTIATION AND POSITIONING

Differentiation:
Creating superior customer value by actually differentiating the market offering.

Positioning:
Arranging for a product to occupy a clear, distinctive, and desirable place relative to competing products in the minds of target consumers.

PRODUCT POSITIONING



PRECARIAT: The poorest and most deprived class in Britain. With low levels of economic, cultural and social capital, everyday lives of members of this class are precarious.
TRADITIONAL WORKING CLASS: Contains more older members than other classes but also scores low on all forms of the three capitals. They are not the poorest group.
EMERGENT SERVICE WORKERS: Young and often found in urban areas, this new class has low economic capital but has high levels of 'emerging' cultural capital and high social capital.
TECHNICAL MIDDLE CLASS: A less culturally engaged new class with high economic capital. Small in numbers, they have relatively few social contacts.
NEW AFFLUENT WORKERS: Generally young and active, members have medium levels of economic capital and higher levels of cultural and social capital.
ESTABLISHED MIDDLE CLASS: Not quite elite but members of this class have high levels of all three capitals. They are a gregarious and culturally engaged class.
ELITE: This is the most privileged class in Great Britain who have high levels of all three capitals. Their high amount of economic capital sets them apart from everyone else.

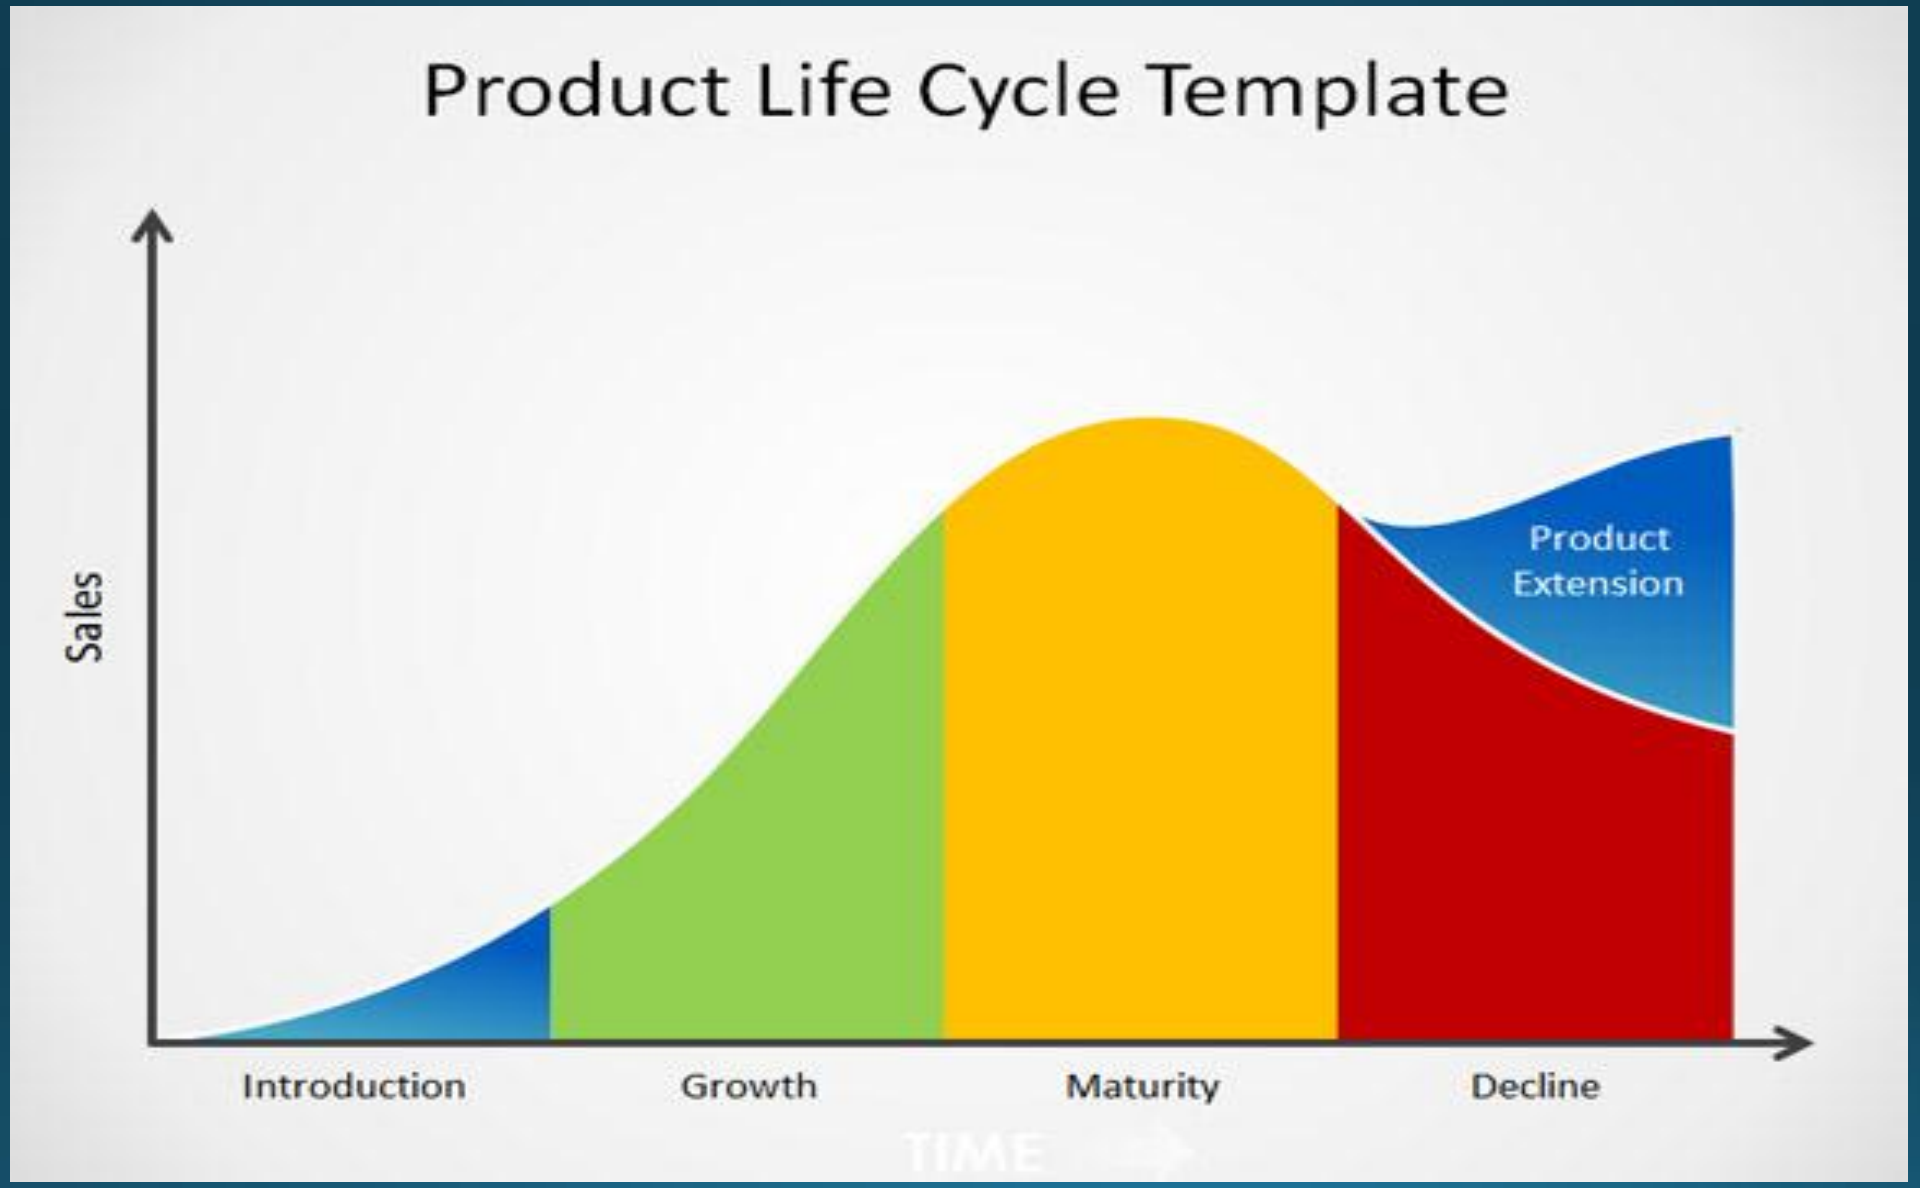
MARKETING STRATEGY

- A thorough understanding of:
  - Product life cycle
  - Domestic and global market trends
  - Models to predict purchase and consumption
  - Communication methods to reach target markets most effectively

Product Life Cycle Template



Introduction Stage

- High failure rates
- Little competition
- Frequent product modification
- Limited distribution
- High marketing and production costs
- Negative profits
- Promotion focuses on awareness and information
- Intensive personal selling to channels

Growth Stage

- Increasing rate of sales
- Entrance of competitors
- Market consolidation
- Initial healthy profits
- Promotion emphasizes brand ads
- Goal is wider distribution
- Prices normally fall
- Development costs are recovered

Maturity Stage

- Declining sales growth
- Saturated markets
- Extending product line
- Stylistic product changes
- Heavy promotions to dealers and consumers
- Marginal competitors drop out
- Prices and profits fall
- Niche marketers emerge

Decline Stage

- Long-run drop in sales
- Large inventories of unsold items
- Elimination of all nonessential marketing expenses
- Options for Deleting Products:
  - Maintaining
  - Deletion
  - Harvesting
  - Contracting

Marketing Strategies for Product Life Cycle

	INTRODUCTION	GROWTH	MATURITY	DECLINE
Product Strategy	Limited models Frequent changes	More models Frequent changes.	Large number of models.	Eliminate unprofitable models
Distribution Strategy	Limited Wholesale/ retail distributors	Expanded dealers. Long-term relations	Extensive. Margins drop. Shelf space	Phase out unprofitable outlets
Promotion Strategy	Awareness. Stimulate demand.Sampling	Aggressive ads. Stimulate demand	Advertise. Promote heavily	Phase out promotion
Pricing Strategy	Higher/recoup development costs	Fall as result of competition & efficient produc-tion.	Prices fall (usually).	Prices stabilize at low level.

ONLINE MARKETING

- E-market place
- An online marketplace (or online e-commerce marketplace) is a type of e-commerce site where product or service information is provided by multiple third parties, whereas transactions are processed by the marketplace operator.
- E-commerce

E-commerce (electronic commerce or EC) is the buying and selling of goods and services, or the transmitting of funds or data, over an electronic network, primarily the Internet. These business transactions occur either business-to-business, business-to-consumer, consumer-to-consumer or consumer-to-business. Alibaba, e bay, amazon, Zappos, Tarad, taobao, weloveshopping, lazada,, kaidee

- Social media
- Social media is the collective of online communications channels dedicated to community-based input, interaction, content-sharing and collaboration. Websites and applications dedicated to forums, microblogging, social networking , social bookmarking, social curation, and wikis are among the different types of social media. Facebook, twitter, Google+, Wikipedia, linkedin, Reddit, Pinterest, Flickr
- Dropshipping
- Dropshipping is a retail fulfillment method where a store doesn't keep the products it sells in stock. Instead, when a store sells a product, it purchases the item from a third party and has it shipped directly to the customer. As a result, the merchant never sees or handles the product.
- The biggest difference between dropshipping and the standard retail model is that the selling merchant doesn't stock or own inventory. Instead, the merchant purchases inventory as needed from a third party – usually a wholesaler or manufacturer – to fulfill orders.

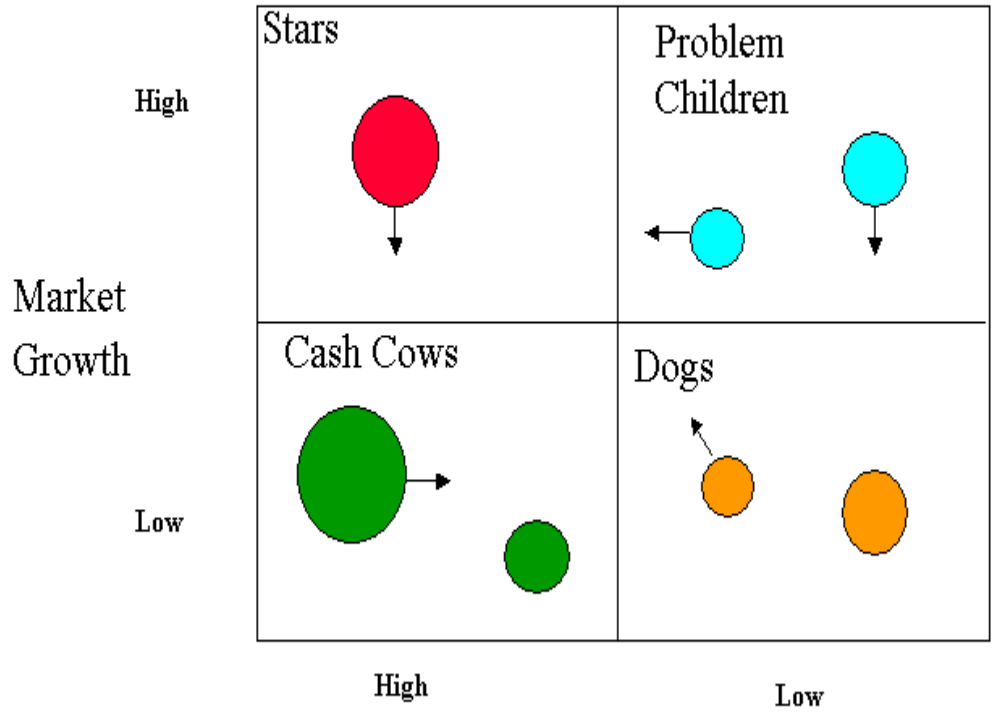
Boston Consulting Group Product Portfolio Matrix



The Boston Consulting Group (BCG)

- Stars: high growth, high-share business products. They often need heavy investments to finance their rapid growth. Their growth can be slow down to cash cows.
- Cash cows: low growth, high share business or products. These established and successful business unit, need less investment to hold their market share. Thus, they product a lot of cash that the company uses to pay its bills and support other units that need investment.
- Question marks: low share business units in high growth markets. They require a lot of cash to hold their share. Management has to think hard about which question marks it should try to build into stars and which should be phased out.
- Lazy dogs: low growth, low share business and products. They may generate enough cash to maintain themselves but do not promise to be large sources of cash.
